COME HERE FOR A MURDER JURY

Judge Gray Sends Over From Con-nersville For a Special Venire of Twenty-Five.

WILL REPORT NEXT MONDAY

First Jury Disagreed—Venire of Forty-Four Talismen Was Exhausted.

When it comes to murder jurymen we have the real article here in Rush county. Not an "accomplishment" to be proud of, but nevertheless we have earned the name of being "good murder triers." This afternoon Judge Gray of the Fayette circuit court telephoned Judge Sparks and asked if he would have the jury commissioners of this county draw a special venire of twenty-five men to be used for the Wilson murder case at Connersville. Judge Sparks acquiesced and the citizens will be summoned to appear in Connersville on Monday morning at nine o'clock.

Judge Gray took this unusual step today when a special venire of forty talismen was exhausted at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Wilson was tried for the alleged crime of killing his wife, and recently the jury disagreed, standing six for six when discharged.

Wilson is a factory employe and his wife was found dead in their home one day at noon on the husband's return from the factory. He said she was alive and well when he left at the usual hour in the morning. Several days afterwards Wilson was arrested after an Indianapolis detective had worked on the case. All the evidence they have against him is circumstantial and very few people in Fayette county believe him guilty.

THROWN OVER DASHBOARD.

Mrs. Lee Pyle, while driving last night, was thrown over the dashboard of the buggy, when the horse stumbled and fell, and suffered a severely sprained ankle.

BIRDS AND BOYS BUSY.

The birds and the cherry pickers are having a close contest to see which shall get his share of the ripe cherries. The crop is an extraordinary one. The trees are loaded and the birds are busy. It is only fair to divide.

FINE CONCERT VERY CHEAP

High Class Artists Are Coming Monday Night to Local Church.

On Monday night the faculty of the Indianapolis Conservatory of Music will give a concert at the Christian church. An admission of ten cents will be charged which will go into the local foreign mission fund. The singers and musicians are coming merely as an advertisement of their institution.

DON'T FORGET THIS.

Not the least important thing of your summer trip is to have the Daily Republican ordered sent to your address while you are away. You will find that you will want to keep up with what is going on at home and the Republican will do this for you. Your address will be changed as often as you desire and every attention will be given to see that you get your paper regularly.

IS NOW BEHIND THE BARS

Young Tully, Who Was Arrested
Here, Sent to Prison.

Robert R. Tully, the bad check man, will be behind the bars at Jeffersonville by the time the reader sees this, says the Connersville News. He was taken to prison by Officer George Frazier Friday morning. Sheriff Miller could not possibly spare the time to go himself, so he deputized Mr. Frazier rather than hold the prisoner here another week. To do so would have been unjust to the convict as he will only get credit for time served in prison.

PESTS DESTROYING WHEAT AND CORN

Small Parasite is Working on Wheat and the Worm Has Attacked
Roots of Corn.

IS GENERAL OVER THE COUNTY

Farmers in Rush county are complaining of the midge in the wheat. The midge is a small green bug that attacks the head. Farmers from several townships report that the wheat is hurt can not be told at this time.

While farmers from a few townships are heard to complain more frequently concerning this pest, it is said that practically every township in the county is afflicted to a certain extent, some, however, to a less extent than others.

Worms of some kind have also attacked the corn. The pests in this case work on the root of the corn, turning the leaves purplish or pink tint.

TWO FACTORIES FOR RUSHVILLE

Currently Reported Today That
Manufacturing Establishments Would Start Soon.

NEW COFFIN FACTORY RUMOR

Now Assuming Definite Shape—Will Probably be Started by Clifford and Reynolds.

The Rushville boom is soon to assume definite proportions from the rumors and reports are going about. That several Rushville capitalists are interested is evidenced by the fact that already two new factories are being considered and will in all probability be started soon. A few of the people, who can never see any good in anything, said that Rushville could never be started on the uphill road to success, but it seems that their opinion was not worth much.

It was currently reported today that a certain number of local capitalists were considering the organization of a company to install a new manufacturing plant here. They do not yet desire to have their names mentioned in connection with the transaction until the plans are more complete. Then the nature of their business will be made known and the probable location of the factory. They have in mind a very desirable location which will be secured and as soon as the organization is perfected the affairs of the company will be made public.

Among the numerous other things which have come to the light of day recently is the fact that Harry Clifford and Frank Reynolds, two prominent young business men who now own and control the old Bentwood factory, are soon to start the manufacture of caskets and porch furniture in the old building formerly occupied by the Sterling buggy company. The building was recently bought up cheap at a sheriff's sale for taxes and could probably be purchased for a small price. Clifford and Reynolds are two very thorough business men who have had much experience along business lines and could make a success of such an enterprise with the business interests of the city back of them.

A meeting of the Rushville Improvement Association will be held within the next few days to consider several propositions, which have been made to them. They will take under consideration the new coffin factory and may be able to make satisfactory arrangements to secure the site for the factory.

THE STAMPS LOOKED ALIKE

Order Given to Discontinue the Sale of Certain Issue.

On account of the similarity between the November, 1908 issue of special delivery stamps and the one cent stamp an order was received at the local postoffice to discontinue the sale of the new special deliveries and resume the sale of the old ones, issue of 1902. The new special delivery stamps were of the same color as the one cent stamp and being almost the same size in many cases letters with these stamps on would not be given special delivery.

NOT VERY SERIOUS.

Ben Elder, who was struck by a traction car last Saturday night is not so badly injured as was reported. Amputation will not be necessary, although he still suffers great pain.

OLD MASTER OF SINGING SCHOOL

The Diapasons Have a Rare Treat in Store For Them at Reunion
Sunday.

STEPHEN DUNCAN IS COMING

The Teacher, Who Led the Boys and Girls Before the Civil War, to be Here Again.

The fifth annual reunion of the old Diapason singers will be held in the Main Street Christian church Sunday afternoon, it being an adjourned session. And 'tis lucky for them that the session was adjourned on May 9th, on account of inclement weather, for the program tomorrow promises to be the most interesting one ever given. Stephen Duncan, the old singing master, who taught a singing class in this county before the Civil war, is coming and will bring with him an old quartette. He now resides at Franklin and on account of being indisposed at previous meetings could not attend.

John A. Spurrier, one of the early teachers, and who is enthusiastic about the reunions, received a letter from Mr. Duncan today which follows and which will be read with interest:

My Dear Mr. Spurrier:

Your very kind and cordial invitation to attend your meeting Sunday received just as I left my home on Monday morning to attend commencement week at Adrian College, of which college I am a trustee. This is the golden jubilee, or semi-centennial commencement of its history, and it has been a great week with us. I go home tomorrow and if the day is favorable Sunday and I may be able to bring to you and your class a very pleasant surprise—Our Family Male Quartette, or the "Famous Duncan Male Quartette," as it is often called—my brother, the professor of music at Indianapolis, and my two sons.

My brother also taught in your county a number of years after I did. If I knew exactly what car we would leave Indianapolis on, I would ask you to meet us. I think, however, we shall go over either on the 10 or 11 a. m. car.

Would you be able to notify the old Morristown, Arlington and other classes I taught near Rushville. Now you may announce us if you wish, (in any way you may desire) that our quartette will render a few numbers at your concert on Sunday.

Hoping that there will be no disappointment this time and that we may be able to meet and renew acquaintances and friendships of the days of other years, and enjoy a grand reunion together, I am very truly and sincerely your friend.

S. W. DUNCAN.

MUCH IMPROVED.

John Rutledge, who was struck by a train in the Pennsylvania yards in New Castle last Tuesday came home today. He is very much improved, and is able to walk around. He will be incapacitated for work for several days on account of a broken arm.

HAVE YOU HEARD "COME OVER ON MY VERANDA?"

"Come Over on my Veranda," as sung by Julian Eltinge, the famous American female impersonator, is our musical offering this week. The song is printed on page three of this issue. It will be sung at the Vaudeville and Star-Grand theaters this evening.

APPEAL TO SUPREME COURT

Motion in Thompson Case Heard in Fayette Circuit Court.

The motion for a new trial, says the Connersville Examiner, and an appeal to the supreme court in the case of Thompson vs. the East Hill Cemetery Association, the Rushville case that last week in the circuit court resulted in a judgment for $3000 for the defendant was argued before Judge Gray Friday afternoon.

GWYNNEVILLE TO HAVE NEW BUILDING

School House Proceedings to Reach Superintendent—Old Structure is Condemned.

WILL DECIDE ON LOCATION

Owing to condemnation proceedings instituted by Dr. Hurty, Secretary of the State Board of Health, against the Gwynneville school building, steps are being taken to erect another edifice, says the Shelbyville News. Dr. Hurty declared the location unsightly and unsanitary and a new site must necessarily be selected. Notices have been posted in the township, announcing the State Board's decision and a meeting before Superintendent Everson June 30. The law stipulates that a petition bearing the names of the majority of the school patrons must be filed with the superintendent, when a change of location is desired, and that after the matter has been placed before him, he must decide upon the site.

The trustee will erect a commodious and modern structure to replace the condemned building.

HIGH PRICE BULL ATTRACTS PEOPLE

Many Around Greensburg Depot
Took a Peep at Eleven Thousand and Dollar Jersey.

WAS SHIPPED FROM THIS CITY

Considerable attention was centered Friday afternoon around eight head of cattle that passed through the city en route from Rushville to the east, says the Greensburg News. The eight represented the small fortune of $20,000, and were purchased yesterday and the day before at the big stock sale in Rush county. One bull alone sold for $11,000, which, with one exception, is the biggest price ever paid for a bull in this country, the highest price being paid a few years ago when a stock man in New York State paid $12,000 for one. The fancy and valuable stock were traveling in a Pullman stock car, and were making the trip via the passenger train service.

OH YOU JOKER!

AMENDMENT TO THE OLD SLOGAN

Now It Is "Rush County, the Home of Fast Horses and Many Automobiles."

HITCH TO THE CURB STONES.

Visitor Here Thinks It Evidence of Prosperity and Sure Sign of Coming Boom.

"Rush County the home of fast horses and many automobiles!"

The old slogan has been changed, not officially, but the papers are on the way to the official maker of slogans for the change.

Stop a minute and see if it is not right. Pick your own afternoon and count the number of touring cars and runabouts hitched to the curbstone around the court house. Then after counting them, glance up Main street and count some more. But while you are doing it be careful. The total will make you so dizzy that you will have trouble keeping out of the way of the many machines that are continually running through the streets.

The cars they buy in Rush county are not the cheap bargain day sale products. The best is none too good for the people here. And more than that the number of mortgages are not increasing. The Abe Martin joke that Ez Pash got in his three thousand dollar touring car and went to see his sick mother at the poor farm don't go here.

The thing that strikes the visitor after he has recovered from the shock at finding the large number of autos here is the many farmers that have cars. Instead of hitching up the family horse now Mr. Farmer cranks the family machine if you please.

The Rush county Auto club is the official organization of the automobilists and although there are many of the R A C monograms many of the owners of automobiles are not members. The reason is obvious. They are buying so fast the club can not initiate the members fast enough.

"Rush county surely goes some," said a visitor here the other day. "I had often heard of Rush county's fast horses and I am here to say that that is no mean reputation. I have also heard a thing or two about the large number of automobiles you have here. But actually I did not think there were as many as there are. Did you say Rushville was going to boom? Well if it doesn't it ought to. If the citizens of the county are able to buy so many automobiles, this is the place for a lot of factories. And believe me there are a lot of factories that are anxious to come to just such a place as this. Why it would almost keep one factory busy supplying the demand at home."

The visitor was a man of affairs and knows pretty near what he is talking about. Take his opinion for what it is worth. And there you are.

Rushville is going to boom.

WOMAN KILLS SNAKE.

Milton, Ind., June 19.—Mrs. Catherine Swafford, near Beeson's Station, five miles, south of here, heard a noise among the turkeys in the orchard and went to see. There she found a huge black snake. She, with Miss Ruth Hacker, killed the reptile. It measured six feet in length and was very large around its body. Mrs. Swafford broke the snake's back with a rail.

Rushville is going to boom.

HORRID CRIME AT NEW YORK

Granddaughter of Gen. Sigel
Slain by Chinese.

CODY WAS FOUND IN A TRUNK

Shocking Discovery Made In a Chinese Rooming House—Body of Young Woman, Who Had Been Missing for a Week, Was Found in a Trunk Bearing Evidence of Cruel Murder—Mystery Attaches to the Affair Which Has Brought Sorrow to the Family of Noted General.

New York, June 19.—Elizabeth Sigel, daughter of Paul Sigel of this city and grand daughter of the illustrious Franz Sigel, the German warrior, who enlisted his services with the Union army during the civil war, is the victim of one of the most sordid murders in the history of New York. Taken from a trunk in a room of a Chinaman above a chop suey restaurant in the tenderloin, her body, in a state of decomposition which made identification difficult, lies in the morgue, while detectives are collecting the threads of a tangled story involving the girl and her associations with Chinese. An envelope addressed to the girl found in the room where the body lay, a locket bearing her initials, her disappearance on June 10, and a note found in the room, signed "Elsie," all pointed to the identity of the murdered girl, and the jewelry and clothing were later identified by Mrs. Sigel. The body was partially stripped of its clothing, tied with ropes, wrapped in a faded blue blanket and crammed in a dilapidated old trunk where it lay for a week at least, before the odor crept through the building arousing the suspicion of the phlegmatic proprietor of the restaurant below, who summoned the police and instituted an investigation.

Sun Leong, proprietor of the restaurant, who also conducted the rooming house above, disappeared shortly after the discovery of the murder, adding further to the mystery. The case has many unusual features, notable among which is the fact that a Chinaman has been known to call at the Sigel home, presumably with the sanction of the parents. Elizabeth, or Elsie, was 20 years old, and was greatly interested in work among Chinese. It is understood she became acquainted with one Chinaman who may be able to throw some light on the case, several years ago, when he conducted a cane rack at an amusement park at Fort George. The Sigel home in Wadsworth avenue, the Bronx, is not far away from that resort. Neighbors said the calls of the Chinaman at the house ceased more than a year ago. Three Chinamen have been arrested as material witnesses. The man most wanted, however, is the former occupant of the room where the body was found, evidently an English speaking Celestial, who either knew Elsie Sigel or knew someone that knew her.

STILL IMPROVING

Bradstreet Continues to Give Optimistic Report of Trade Conditions.

New York, June 19.—Bradstreet's weekly review of trade today says: The tendency is still toward improvement, the general crop situation, manufacturing industry and bookings for fall showing further gains, but irregularities of weather still retard the fullest development of retail trade and thereby affect re-order business with jobbers.

In industrial lines the tendency is toward further expansion of operations. Numerous early cuts in wages have been restored and employment is more widely diffused. The building trades probably lead in volume of activity but there are still complaints that lumber is not selling as freely as expected.

Fixed Duty on Print Paper.

Washington, June 19.—Just before adjournment last night the senate adopted by a vote of 44 to 32 the amendment of the senate committee on finance fixing a duty of $4 a ton on print paper, in place of the house rate of $2 a ton, but the other amendments to the wood pulp and print paper schedule had not been acted upon when the senate adjourned.

Muskogee, Okla., June 19.—Following a bold attempt by three desperate men to rob the engineer and fireman on a northbound through freight on the Iron Mountain road, within four miles of Braggs, Okla., a battle occurred between the robbers and Constable Wicks and Deputy Constable Johnson Kirk, in which Kirk was shot dead and Wicks was badly cut. Quarterly Meeting at Gowdy

The quarterly meeting service at Gowdy last Sunday was attended by a very large crowd of people from all parts of the surrounding country. The district superintendent, Rev. E. B. Rawls of Indianapolis preached a very forcible sermon in the morning after which he conducted the communion service assisted by the pastor Rev. J. L. Brown and Rev. Loren Tillison. Then came the dinner served on long tables in the church yard to which all did ample justice. The program in the afternoon was given by the children of the Sunday school under the management of Misses Lueth and Nellie Barlow. Miss Ola Alter and Mrs. Curtis Thrall were the organizers, L. A. Wagoner played the cornet and Eddie Green the trombone. A class from the Vienna school sang two songs which were very beautiful and greatly appreciated by the people of Gowdy. The children and young people all did their parts well and deserves much credit in helping along the work of the church. An offering was taken up for the Educational Fund of the church.

The work on the St. Paul circuit is in good condition. The stewards from each of the five churches reported the financial payments made in full. There has been no deficiency at any place so far this year and we enter the last quarters of the conference year with the assurance that our pledges will be paid.

Mrs. F. P. Wagoner united with the church at the morning service. We hope to spend many more such happy days.

GOLD MEDAL FLOUR

For Woman's Eye.

The cotton voiles are suitable for so many different kinds of gowns that one can be very daintily dressed at small expense wherever she may be. For little theater dresses, they are ideal, also for afternoon gowns at home, and even negligees. This material does not crush easily and drapes perfectly.

If you have a hat pin whose top is not all you could desire, embroider or crochet a cover for it and wear it with your lingerie hats. If the head is too uneven to cover well, first lay over it a bit of cotton wadding.

Transform your last season's white linen plaited skirt into one that is up to date by cutting off the upper part and putting in its stead a plain yoke of the same.

If you are tired of wearing jet try coral; both are very handsome, very becoming and very fashionable.

White mohair, the French, makes delightfully cool summer suits, looks clean and keeps so with very little trouble.

A perfectly plain parasol is transformed into one that is both distinctive and beautiful by a young woman who is an adept at stenciling.

It takes but a very few moments to mark one's underclothing with embroidered initials, and these are always so much prettier than anything that can be sewed on that it seems as if every girl who likes pretty lingerie would mark it in this way.

Tiny little American flags, just large enough to go around the upper part of stem glasses, make pretty receptacles for the Fourth of July luncheon table.

Feather flowers are a new hat trimming promised for the coming fall.

Smart Tips For Men

The new plain pique collar, much heavier than the ordinary make, with stripes running up and down, is attracting attention.

The plaited shirt in different colors is popular. The negligee and soft-laundried plaits with French cuffs are also being worn.

Scotch plaids in caps are largely in vogue and the English golf hat has displaced the "bulldog" style, popular last year.

Scarf clasps like fobs have come into demand with the more general wearing of the two-piece suit.

Plain satin scarfs with the panel stripes are in vogue.

A novelty scarf pin has been devised with seven different colored stones, any one of which can easily be inserted in the setting. A feature of the assortment it that any tie may be matched.

White handkerchiefs are now considered in better taste than any showing in color, although colors in dainty stripes or border effects are seen in all-silk or silk-mixed qualities.

Twill and other weaves irreversible, from one to one and a half inches wide, are in demand for strictly summer wear. Bows and narrow four-in-hands are popular.

Guards are coming into use for suspending the watch from the coat lapel buttonhole in the outside breast pocket.

In canes, polished natural woods are the fashion, and for general use are favored over silver mountings.

It pays to take a look. This was illustrated a few days ago when a New Jersey man, tardy in respect to attention to the Bible left his thirty-five years ago by a dying aunt found $5000 in good rag money between the leaves. Also a Delaware man, prowling in an old safe not opened for thirty years, raked out enough gold coin to keep him busy in the lap of luxury the balance of his life.

There seems to be quite a movement among Indiana towns to take advantage of the revival of business to boom themselves. Commercial Clubs and Business Men's Associations are making strong efforts to attract capital and new industries to their communities. Capital is discovering that advantages are to be obtained in locating factories in small places which cannot be found in large cities. Rushville offers many advantages to concerns seeking to get away from the large cities, among others it has railroad and shipping facilities that few small cities in the State can equal.

Spain, which is generally supposed to be in a state of decadence, has taken a long step forward by enacting a compulsory voting law, by which all adult males are required to vote at all municipal elections. The penalty is a public reprimand, increase in the tax rate and exclusion from right to hold civic office. The Spanish government recognizes that voting is a civic duty, and one of such importance that it should not be neglected or evaded. In the United States especially in the large cities, one of the evils of government is the lukewarmness of business men at election time. If the business man and the taxpayer would make it a duty to attend and vote at all municipal elections our cities would be better governed, and there would be no such wholesale grafting as recently exposed in San Francisco, Pittsburgh and other cities. In this country, where suffrage is so universal it may be that a compulsory voting law would be more beneficial than in those countries where the right to the ballot is restricted.

However much they may try to read Bryan out of the Democratic party, and the nomination in 1912, it is certain that it will fail. Really, where is there so likely a candidate? Who so readily measures up to the party standard as the standard has been in recent years? And who in the party has half the following that Mr. Bryan has? He has made it perfectly clear that he is willing to accept the nomination again, and such a signification on his part is tantamount to the posting of a notice against trespassers. It virtually declares that the man who enters the lists against Mr. Bryan will be spotted by the Bryanite hordes as "the tool of the plutocracy," and if he should succeed in the convention it will only be to fall a mangled victim at the polls. The Bryanites are untamed and irreconcilable, and so long as they are part and parcel of the Democratic party they will dominate it or wreck it. The raid which Democracy made on populism in 1896 was the most disastrous venture in adoption that our political history has yet recorded.

State Conference of Charities and Correction

The Executive Committee of the Indiana State Conference of Charities and Correction has fixed upon October 23-26, 1909, as the date for the next annual meeting. This is to be held at Columbus and will be the 18th session of the organization. Rabbi Emil W. Leipziger, of Terre Haute, is president, and Rev. W. S. Sigmund, of Columbus, secretary.

It is the plan to open the Conference with a general session on Saturday evening, October 23d, with President Leipziger as the principal speaker. On Sunday the pulpits of the different churches will be filled by prominent visiting delegates. Sunday afternoon there will be a mass meeting, at which it is expected that Governor Marshall will be present and give an address. In addition to the general session on Saturday evening there will be four other general sessions at which the program will be devoted respectively to "City and Township Charities," "State Charities," "Juvenile Charities" and "County Charities." These will be held Sunday evening, Monday afternoon, Monday evening, and Tuesday evening. On Tuesday morning the Round Tables will take up the work of Boards of County Charities; another will deal with delinquent children and what the truant and probation officers and the juvenile courts are doing; organized charities and township poor relief will be discussed in a third and State charities in a fourth.

There is no reason why the Conference this year should not surpass all others in attendance. Columbus is easily reached by both railroad and interurban lines.

The people of Bartholomew county are progressive in their charity work. They have an active board of county charities and a good board of children's guardians. Excellent work is done by the juvenile court. One afternoon of the Conference will be given to visiting the local institutions. The Conference has no fees or membership dues. Everyone is welcome who is interested in learning what is being done for the poor, the insane, the defective, the criminal and for dependent and neglected children and how the millions of dollars which the taxpayers must pay into the public treasury every year for this work are spent. Those who have come to the meetings in the right spirit have gone home to sow the seed of better conditions. The influence of the Conference in recent years is to be seen in actual conditions in many localities of the State.

Full information concerning the meeting can be had by addressing the Board of State Charities, Indianapolis, or Rev. W. S. Sigmund, Columbus.

Daguerre

The Inventor of Photography

Louis Jaques Daguerre, who was the first man to say, "Look pleasant, please," was born in Cormelles, France, 120 years ago. He was also the first to hear that time-worn witticism about "breaking the camera," but history does not record whether he laughed at it. Certainly none but iron-nerved and hypocritical photographers have done so since.

France was in an upheaval when Daguerre was born, and his youth was spent in attempting his parents to make both ends meet, which is a common occupation of insipient geniuses. Arrived at manhood's estate, Daguerre assumed the profession of a scene painter, in which he early won renown and by his original devices won a foremost place in the art.

It was while engaged in this profession that he discovered a method of representing moonlight, day and night, and changes of season by a proper illumination of a large transparent canvas painted on both sides. These pictures were exhibited in Paris and London and attracted wide attention.

LIKE THEIR FEATHERS.

(Columbus Republican.)

Whenever the day is dull and news is a scarce commodity a brood of young chickens owned by Mrs. Andrew Faulconer of this city, may be counted on to fill some space anyway. These chickens had an unusual start in life, and considering the fact that Meanwhile, as early as 1814, Nicéphore Niepce had made some experiments in photography and in 1827 he was successful in producing some imperfect pictures on metal, which were shown before the Royal Academy. Daguerre was experimenting along the same lines and the two combined their resources. Niepce died in 1833 and the work was carried on by Daguerre alone.

Daguerre persevered in his great project, and success finally crowned his efforts when he produced the method which has since been called the Daguerrotype, after the inventor. These early pictures were but crude and imperfect, compared with present day processes of photography, but they marked the beginning of what has become an art within the reach of all.

Daguerre's process was examined and reported on by the French government, and the inventor was made an officer of the Legion of Honor, and granted an annuity of 6,000 francs.

He died near Paris, on July 10, 1851, and a great monument has been erected by the photographers of the world.

they started queer they insist on continuing so.

Several of these chickens were hatched under a hot water bottle, thus becoming bottle babies at the start. When they got old enough to run around and scratch for themselves it was expected that they would sleep in the chicken house with the rest of the fowls. But the chickens had a different notion about sleeping quarters. They acted so homeless and friendless that Mrs. Faulconer's daughter decided to do something about the matter. She came down town and purchased a feather duster. Taking the duster home she deposited it in a basket where the chickens had slept when very young. And, would you believe it, those chickens now sleep contentedly under the feathers of the duster every night. The other chickens—those which are not queer—go to the chicken house and roost in the ordinary way, but the bottle babies run for their duster and settle down for the night as contented and satisfied as if the feathers belonged to a real mother hen.

INDIANA POLITICS

By Robert G. Tucker.

Indianapolis, June 19.—The fight for state-wide prohibition is to be started at once by the Anti-Saloon league. Superintendent Shumaker of the league says: "To the counties of the state which have voted 'dry,' and feel their duty done, let it be said that there are 3,300 saloons still in Indiana and the fight will not be over even when they are voted out. You will still need the Anti-Saloon League to aid in the enforcement of the law. Not until the traffic is swept from the land will the contest be done. It has been said that a second earthquake in San Francisco would not accomplish the reforms that followed the first. Even so in the present struggle. The Moore remonstrance law, the 'blind tiger' laws and finally the local option law have resulted from a sudden crystallization in public sentiment. The problem before us is to keep that public sentiment alive until it has culminated in state-wide prohibition."

John E. Lamb, the well known Terre Haute Democrat, has stirred up the leaders of his party in an interview criticising the attitude of some of the Democratic senators on the Aldrich bill. During his interview he said: "The contest in the platform committee at the Denver convention on the question of placing articles which enter into competition with trust controlled products on the free list was warmly contested and was only carried in the committee by a few votes after a strenuous fight, but the plank in the Democratic platform demanding the immediate repeal of the tariff on wood pulp, print paper, lumber, timber and logs and that these articles be placed upon the free list, was carried by a vote practically unanimous, and this was afterward ratified by more than 1,000 delegates in convention assembled without a dissenting vote. There is consequently no excuse for any man who pretends to be a Democrat to cast his vote against free wood pulp, print paper, lumber, timber and logs, all of which articles are of prime necessity in everyday life."

SKIES ARE CLEARING

Promise of an Early Settlement of the Evansville Strikers.

suggest. While up to now there is no proof that the company will treat with the old men on any basis except as individuals, the hope is growing that the commissioner may succeed in having the company take back all strikers, with the exception of objectionable employees, as it cares to make. Cars are run on schedule time and with no appearance that a strike still exists except that patronage is light.

ACCOMMODATING CYCLONE

It Put Buildings Back in Place Which a Former Storm Had Moved.

Poteau, Okla., June 19.—A cyclone at Howe and in its vicinity partially remedied damage done by a previous cyclone. The cyclone of several weeks ago moved the Baptist church off its foundation, and the second cyclone, coming from an opposite direction, carried it to the other side. The second cyclone also brought together two sections of a barn belonging to Mrs. Eliza Perry, which the first cyclone had divided. A big revival was in progress in the church, but no person was injured.

Young Woman's Narrow Escape.

Hammond, Ind., June 19.—The blowing of the 6 o'clock whistle at the Erie coal storage plant here saved sixteen-year-old Frieda Slesaff from being torn to pieces. While walking home the girl stopped to pick flowers near a hidden cable used to pull cars to the storage plant. She fell on the cable, which started to move, and drew her into the spokes of a wheel whose revolutions broke both her legs, and was drawing her to certain death when the 6 o'clock whistle blew and the machinery was stopped.

Millionaire Admitted to Bail.

Lafayette, Ind., June 19.—After spending ten days in the county jail, pending the outcome of habeas corpus proceedings in the circuit court, Elias Ray, the millionaire land owner and live stock dealer, was admitted to bail. Judge DeHart ruling that the proof was not evident or the presumption strong that he was guilty of second degree murder, charged in the indictment. The bond was fixed at $10,000. Ray is accused of killing Conrad Ortmann, an employee.

Sues Pastor For Slander.

Madison, Ind., June 19.—James J. Kegley, manager of the North Madison creamery, has sued the Rev. L. C. Hoppell for $10,000 damages, alleging the minister wrote a letter to the creamery association accusing him of dishonesty.

Rev. U. G. Pierce, pastor of All Souls Unitarian church at Washington, has been appointed chaplain of the United States senate, succeeding the late Dr. Hale.

OLD HEN SETTING ON BIG BLACK SNAKE

Foxy Monster Was Eating Fresh Laid Eggs and Hen Was Perfectly Contented.

COILED IN THE HEN'S NEST

As we easily believe anything, we publish the following from the column of the St. Paul Telegram:

Mrs. Grace Enos took care of Fred Metzler's chickens while he was gone to Summitville. Monday evening she lifted a setting hen off her nest and saw something black coiled therein.

She went and asked Tom Gosney, who works for Fred, if he ever saw a snake in a hen's nest. He said he had heard of such things. He went and the hen was back in her place. He lifted her off and discovered a black snake coiled up in the nest, where the eggs should have been. He procured a revolver and killed the snake. It measured 5 feet, 2 inches by actual measurement.

It had eaten the eggs from under the hen. The peculiar part of it is that the hen would set on a live snake. Fred told us the tale himself and vouches for its truth, so we all know it is exactly as stated.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

They will keep the soft pedal on in the future. That is, they will not break in again on the regular program. It was a crowd of clever girls that came tripping and laughing into the Palace theater last night. In a spirit of dare-devilism they went "clean" down to the front row of chairs and there, at close range, were having the time of their lives. Clarence Backous was singing a solo, that popular song "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now." When Backous came to the chorus all the girls joined in and raised the roof. It took Backous off his feet for a few moments, but he soon regained his equilibrium and on singing the second verse he walked over and stood looking into Miss Mae Bebout's eyes "just like they do in the show." Sam Grimes, the machine operator, was up on his job and immediately threw the big spot light on the pair. The audience howled, laughed and applauded at the very unusual stunt, featuring "The Girl With the Auburn Hair."

The chairman of committee on invitation, Dr. O. E. Holloway, of Knightstown, has been busy sending out invitations to all the known employees, some three hundred in number, and to about six hundred former pupils of the institution. From the number of responses to the invitations, the attendance promises to be large.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sagaciously confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.—take the advice received and be well.

"You make progress, my friend?" he asked, and Daniel smiled at him.

"Your machine's like a good many people, doc. It's got sand in its gear box."

At that moment Mariano hastened out and fumbled nervously with the lock on the big gates. Von Grollerhagen turned instantly.

"You are locking us in," he said.

"No, herr," replied the servant; "I lock some one out—that bandit who have not been captured. The carabinieri warn all to lock the gates for an hour. Soon they will capture that wicked one. M'sieu, this convict is a Russian."

With a keen glance, Von Grollerhagen waved the man aside. Daniel smiled.

"They've got two companies of the tin soldiers. Out my way the town marshal would have had him yesterday."

"My friend, you are teaching me to respect your country, not by what you brag, but by what you do."

"How's that?" asked Pike.

"I see how a son of that great democracy can apply himself to a dirty machine while his eyes are full of visions of one of its beautiful daughters."

"Doc, there's sand in your gear box!" Then he looked up. "Now, you go down to the kitchen and make signs for some of the help to give you a bunch of nice clean rags."

For an instant the German drew himself up haughtily.

"What is it you ask me to do?"

"Get me some more rags," said Daniel quietly, and Von Grollerhagen bowed low.

"I'd go myself, but it wouldn't be safe to leave the machine."

"You fear this famous bandit would steal it?" laughed the German.

"No; there's parties around here might think it was a settlement."

"My friend," Von Grollerhagen said gravely, "I do not understand."

"That's where we are in the same fix, doc," said Pike, with a chuckle, and bent over the machine again, while Von Grollerhagen departed on his mission.

While Pike worked he thought, and the thoughts finally arrived at the point where he saw that all he had to do to save the girl he had come so far to see was to sit tight on his refusal. He had accurately gauged the noble earl and his interesting son and sister-in-law, and he knew that it was a thousand to one that they would not agree to a marriage if there was no money in sight.

"They'll make more'n one bid for old Simpson's money," he assured himself and then looked up quickly, for the leaves on the pergola were rustling in a way that no wind should have caused.

As he looked the figure of a man appeared over the top of the vines and a pale face looked into his with imploring eyes. Pike looked at him calmly and knew at once that this was the man the carabinieri were pursuing.

"Est ce que vous etes un homme de bon coeur? Je ne suis pas coupable!" ("Are you a kind hearted man? I am not guilty!") he began, when Pike cut him off with a shake of the head.

"There ain't any use in the world your talking to me like that," he said mournfully, and the refugee's eyes gleamed with hope.

"You are an American?" he said, making preparations to descend.

"They haven't made anything else out of me," answered Daniel, and the refugee climbed down and leaned weakly against the car.

"If you give me up I shall not be taken alive! I have no weapon, but I shall find a way to cut my throat!"

"Are you the bandit they're looking for?" asked Daniel, with interest.

"They call me that? How close are they?" asked the other, with sudden fright. Pike looked at the gates and heard a clank of sabers off on the road.

"There!" he said and stripped off his blouse. "Did they see you climb that wall?"

"I think not," murmured the man.

"Do you know anything about auto-

"You are an American?" school professor. I've got him under your car there, yonder."

The start the German gave would have been ludicrous in any other situation.

"My friend," he said, "do you realize the penalty for protecting a criminal from arrest?"

"I told them he was your chauffeur. We'll be proud of the risk, doc." He turned to the refugee under the machine. "This man owns the car," he went on. "You can trust him the same as your own father." And the German shrugged his shoulders in protest. There was a clatter of arms, and Pike looked up.

"Look out!" he said. "The governor's staff is coming back." And as the carabinieri returned he said casually to Von Grollerhagen:

"You'll have to get a new front tire, doc. That one is pretty near gone. Better have Jim here put on the spare one when he gets through."

The German looked at him.

"Do you know what you are asking me to do?"

"To have a new front tire put on," answered the lawyer. The police were looking on with interest, and finally Mariano approached.

"The carabinieri, with all excuses, beg that you will order the chauffeur to step forth from the machine."

Pike made an exclamation.

"No, sir; I worked on that machine myself for three hours. He's got his hands full of nuts and bolts and screws half fastened. We want to get the job finished. Tell them to go on up Main street with their Knights of Pythias parade and come around some day when we're not busy."

Mariano held a hurried consultation with the carabinieri and turned back.

"Because the chauffeur have been engage today the carabinieri ask ten thousand pardons, but inquire how long he have been known to his employer."

"How long! Why, he was raised on doc's father's farm!"

"If that is so"—began Mariano.

"So? Of course it's so. Tell 'em, doc!"

The German looked at Mariano gravely.

"You have heard my friend say it."

"I have your permission, Herr von Grollerhagen, to reveal your incognito to the carabinieri?"

"Is it necessary?"

"Otherwise they will not depart."

"Very well; tell them. But I rely upon them to preserve my incognito from all others."

Mariano smiled.

"Monsieur, they depart," and turned to the uniformed men. An instant later these swung through the gate and went their way. Pike looked after them in astonishment.

"He must have mesmerized the militia, eh, doc?" and signed to the refugee to come out from the car. He was a pathetic figure as he emerged and held out his hands.

"To you both I give thanks"—But Von Grollerhagen cut in:

"My American friend has placed himself—and myself—in danger of the penal code of Italy for protecting you. Perhaps you will be good enough to let us know for what we have incriminated ourselves."

Praise For Panama Canal Builders.

Henry Savage Landor, the famous explorer, who recently arrived in London after completing a thorough investigation of the work being done in the Panama canal zone, said:

"I always had a very high idea of the American people's ability to accomplish a big task, but in the matter of building this canal, so gigantic is it, I am all admiration. I was particularly impressed with the personnel of the staff, especially the engineers in charge of the various sections of the work. These young army men show ability and enthusiasm which, I believe, cannot be equaled by any other body of men."

New Kind of Persimmon.

Professor Frank Bush, a Harvard botanist, who recently returned to his home in Courtney, five miles north of Independence, Mo., has found a new variety of persimmon. He made the find on a recent "tree hunt" in southern Missouri. The fruit of the new variety is somewhat flattened in shape and has only one or two seeds. Professor Bush says it is very large and luscious.

Castles in the Air.

Once when our castles rose in air
With hope hewn roof and floor
We thought the world had never known
So fair a type before.
We always saw a cottage small
With roses round the door.
And then when life became more tense
We quite outgrew all that,
And fancy built another home,
Rejoicing much thereat,
For then it was our dreams upreared
A cozy little flat.
But nowadays that, too, is changed
With fashion's ebb and flow.
Another architecture still
Our fickle tastes will show,
For all creation wants to live
Within a bungalow.

BEFORE END OF THREE YEARS

This is the Time Warden Reid of the Indiana State Prison at Michigan City Sets In Which to Bring Big Penal Institution to a Self-Supporting Basis Under the Provisions of the New Ten-Year Law For State Prison Contracts.—Figuring on Wider Markets and Longer Contracts.

Indianapolis, June 17.—Under the operation of the ten-year law for state prison contracts, Warden Reid of the prison expects the institution to be self-supporting before the end of three years, according to a statement given out at the governor's office. The present contract of five years will expire Oct. 1, when new contracts will be entered into under the new law. The prison authorities will then refuse to accept any bid which is less than 55 cents a day a man employed under the contract system. The present scale of contract wages runs from 20 to 30 cents a day.

The ten-year contract law was passed through the efforts of Governor Marshall and Warden Reid. It is held that under the operations of the law, contractors who utilize prison labor will be enabled to figure on wider markets and longer contracts, and can, therefore, place their expensive machinery in the prison with less liability to lose because of short contract, and will be able to bid higher on the daily wage contract as a result.

Data collected by the board of state charities show that the per capita cost of maintaining the prison in 1908 was $132.19, or $0.361 a day for every day in the year, or, approximately, $0.43 a working day. A large number of the prisoners cannot be let out to work under the contract system because of physical disabilities and because many of them are used about the prison in caring for the buildings and grounds. The warden, basing his calculations on the number of prisoners who can be let out, and adding to their earnings sufficient to keep those not let out to contract labor, believes that a contract figure of 55 cents will make the institution self-sustaining.

BRIDAL COUPLE FIEND VICTIMS

Death of Pair Attributed to Poisoned Candy.

A PENNSYLVANIA MYSTERY

Williamsport Has a Sensation in the Sudden Death of Albert Munroe and His Bride of a Week Who Are Thought to Have Been Made the Victims of Poisoned Candy.—Nothing to Indicate Suicide and a Thorough Investigation Is Being Made by the Coroner and Police.

Williamsport, Pa., June 19.—Albert Munro and his bride of a week were found dead in their chamber last evening. On a dresser was a partially filled box of chocolates. There was nothing to indicate violence, and it is believed they were victims of poisoned candy. They were in their night clothes and the gas was burning brightly, indicating that they had been overcome before getting into bed. The woman's body was on the floor and the man was leaning forward across the bed. The dead man was a clerk in the office of Chief Verner of the Pennsylvania railroad police, and was 22 years old. He was in the best of spirits when last seen alive, and the suicide theory is given little credence. A thorough investigation is now being made by the coroner and the police authorities.

Some express belief that Mrs. Munro died suddenly from heart failure, and that the shock superinduced a similar fatal attack on the young husband. No evidence has been found to bear out the belief of either murder or suicide.

INDIANA TROPHY

Was Won By Joe Matson With a Chalmers-Detroit.

Crown Point, Ind., June 19.—Joe Matson speeded a light Chalmers-Detroit automobile into fame by winning in brilliant fashion the Indiana trophy. In all the long, killing journey of 232.74 blurred miles he stopped his car but once for gasoline and lubricant. He and his machinist finished in good form amidst the cheers of thousands all along the route. His average speed was 51.2 miles. For the route it was 4:31:21.

Robertson, winner of last year's Vanderbilt, finished second in a Locomobile, his time being 4:39:03. Monsen, in a Marion, ran a close third in 4:42:03.

The race was for light cars only and while of great importance in itself, was generally considered as preliminary to the race of the big cars for the Cobe cup, over the same course today. Perfect weather, and the absence of any save the most trivial injuries to drivers were fortunate circumstances attending the winning of the Indiana trophy by Matson.

FELL WITH BALLOON

Inadvertent Act of Aeronaut Causes Death of Three Persons.

St. Petersburg, June 19.—Court Chamberlain Palitzin and his wife and Count Rostoffseff were killed and Capt. Korbe suffered severe injuries in a balloon accident here.

A balloon belonging to the army department ascended in charge of Capt. Korbe. In the basket with him were Court Chamberlain Palitzin and his wife and Count Rostoffseff, director of the private chancellery of Empress Alexandra. The balloon drifted across the city at an altitude of a little less than a mile, and when it was just above the outskirts, Count Rostoffseff by mistake pulled the rip cord. As the gas escaped from the envelope the balloon plunged to the ground.

Bishop Driven From Town.

Ulysses, Neb., June 19.—A mob drove Catholic Bishop Bonacum of Lincoln and two priests who accompanied him out of town and threatened them with violence. The action of the mob is the outcome of the long standing Bonacum-Murphy feud. When the party from Lincoln arrived to take charge of the church over which Father Murphy has so long presided, they were resisted by the entire village and forced to leave town.

The Second Victim Dead.

Fairfield, Ill., June 19.—Frank McCullough, the second victim of Wednesday's shooting, is dead. Dr. Charles Leininger was killed and Dick Sloan was wounded in the same fray, which resulted from a feud between town men and several actors who had been playing here. Herbert O. Pinnick, who did the shooting, is still in jail, the coroner's jury not having reached a verdict. He will plead self-defense if brought to trial.

San Domingo Quiets Down.

San Domingo, Republic of Santo Domingo, June 19.—Gen. Penon Toribio, former governor of San Francisco de Marcosis, the last of the leaders in the recent uprising, has surrendered all his forces. Complete quiet now prevails in the republic.

NAVAL INCIDENT PROBABLY CLOSED

Russia's Shot at England Set Down as a Blunder.

St. Petersburg, June 19.—The British embassy here has received a report concerning the firing upon the British steamer Woodburn Wednesday night by a vessel of the Russian squadron, which was patrolling the vicinity of Pitkipas bay, where Emperor Nicholas and Emperor William were to meet the following day. The report came from the British vice-consul at Viborg, from whom the embassy asked an explanation of the incident. Its contents have not been made public.

The belief that any grave developments would follow the affair has been excluded, however, for it was evidently due to some one's blunder for which either or both sides are willing to express regret. While private dispatches from Viborg say the Woodburn was steering in accordance with directions given her by a convoying torpedo boat, naval officers of the squadron declare the steamer was heading directly for the Standart, and that they could not afford to run the risk of having the imperial yacht run down.

DIDN'T TARRY LONG

Thief Sentenced to Penitentiary Two Hours After Capture.

Scottdsburg, Ind., June 19.—A porch climber who entered seven homes in this city, was later captured near Marshallfield by George Walker, town marshal, Sheriff Wilson and Henry Everett, a liveryman. In a struggle with the thief Walker received a bullet from his own weapon, which lodged in his hip, making a serious wound. The circuit court is now in session and the thief was placed on trial immediately. He entered a plea of guilty and Judge Shea sentenced him to from ten to twenty years in the state reformatory. He received his sentence two hours after his capture. He gave his name as James Brown and his age as twenty-one years.

MORE LIGHT IS BEING LET IN

Additional Evidence in Meat
Inspection Case.

COMPLAINT IS CORROBORATED

According to J. F. Harms, the Inspector Whose Open Letter to Secretary Wilson, Started the Investigation at East St. Louis, Another Inspector Has Testified to Conditions Confirming the Original Complaint—Inquiry Being Conducted With Great Secrecy.

East St. Louis, Ill., June 19.—Corroboration of many of the charges against the government meat inspection system here was given to the officials who are investigating conditions, by Julius Bischoff, an inspector. According to J. F. Harms, the inspector whose open letter to Secretary Wilson, caused the inquiry, Bischoff substantiated his co-worker's assertions and was prepared to reveal similar irregularities which he had observed on his own account.

The secrecy with which the inquiry is being conducted has caused considerable comment about the stockyards. Officials of packing companies said they feared the present hearing would fail to allay public distrust of the inspection system, no matter what report is made to Secretary Wilson.

They called attention to the fact that the day after Harms' original charges were published Dr. A. D. Melvin, who is conducting the inquiry, was quoted in an interview as being sure that the allegations were without foundation. This phase of the matter was also given by Harms as one of the reasons why he refused to take part in a secret investigation.

TOO LONG AGO

Indictments Quashed In So-Called Office Graft Cases.

Muncie, Ind., June 18.—A severe blow at the prosecution of offenders in the so-called office graft cases was dealt by Judge Paulus, of the Grant county circuit court, sitting as special judge in the Delaware county circuit court, when he quashed the indictments charging malfeasance in office that had been returned against Robert M. Monroe, former auditor and prosecuting attorney of Delaware county, and against Thomas Starr, former sheriff. Judge Paulus held that the statute of limitation applies to the crimes in public office alleged to have been committed by these men, and that they are exempt from prosecution. However, Judge Paulus recommended that the prosecuting attorney make his exception to the ruling and carry the matter to the supreme court of the state for final determination, as there was, in the opinion of the court, room for conflict of opinion.

NOT DUE TO POISON

Experts Make Their Report In the Case of Mrs. Snearly's Death.

Wabash, Ind., June 19.—The case against Dr. George E. Snearly, of Roann, who was arrested last April on a charge of poisoning his wife, will probably be dismissed as the result of the report made by the investigating committee. The report is to the effect that Mrs. Snearly did not die from poisoning.

The arrest was made on an affidavit filed by the coroner, who stated that the woman's death resulted from strychnine administered by her husband. Dr. Rhamy, a Ft. Wayne chemist, made an analysis of the stomach of the woman and found no trace of poison. Then four physicians were selected by the court to analyze the brain and all of the organs of the woman's body. Their report has caused rejoicing among the friends of Dr. Snearly in Roann, who have never doubted his innocence. The doctor has been out of jail under $10,000 bond since May 6.

Charged With Heinous Assault.

Warsaw, Ind., June 19.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Ancil Zimmerman, charged with criminal assault on the nine-year-old daughter of Harry Wright, living ten miles west of the city. Zimmerman was caught by a posse summoned by the ringing of the dinner bell at the Wright farm, but managed to escape and outdistanced his pursuers. It is said he confessed his guilt to the posse, maintaining, however, that he was drunk at the time.

Preparing To Go After Sugar.

New York, June 18.—United States District Attorney Wise and Assistant District Attorney Crim are engaged in preparing the inquiry into the American Sugar Refining company case for presentation to the federal grand jury next week.

PRAISE FOR THE K. K. K. EDITION

The Phraseology of Newspaper Office
York City, Gives Rushville
Girls Some Space.

CAME VERY EASY FOR THEM

The Phraseology of Newspaper Office
Near Incapacitating the Fair
Damsels.

The following appeared in this month's issue of The Newspaperdom, published in New York City in the interest of newspaper people:

"For just one day last month the girls of Rushville, Ind., were allowed to run the Daily Republican of that town, and reports say that they made a distinguished success of it. There were twenty-four of them on the job, with Miss Jessie Kitchen as editor in chief, and they managed to get out an eight-page paper that made the townfolk sit straight up at attention."

"Of course, there was news of the newest kind and fresh gossip on every page. One girl covered the police court, another the county court, a third the morgue, a fourth politics, a fifth the markets, a sixth the fashions, and so on."

"The girls were all members of the Tri Kappa Sorority, and so writing things grammatically came very easy to them."

"But a woman could not do all the work—a man had to attend to the 'make up.' Femininity is supposed to be 'au fait' in that direction, but when it comes to the newspaper meaning—that puts a different complexion on matters."

"The nagain, the phraseology of the printing office came shockingly near incapacitating the fair damsels. They did not understand why the slim boy was called a 'devil,' nor why certain stuff was consigned to the 'hell box.' The suggestion about 'looking forms' made some of them grow crimson, and the frequent hints about 'slugging' caused grave apprehensions."

TO CINCINNATI IN SMALL CANOE

Carthage Boy Had a Delightful Trip
With Several Earlham College
Students.

WERE CAPSIZED IN THE RIVER

Both Boats Upset But All Escaped
With But a Ducking—Trip in Three Days.

Rufus Stanley of Carthage is a guest at the home of his uncle, Ellsworth Jones, east of the city, and will spend several days "on the farm," says the Connersville Examiner.

Mr. Stanley is a student of Earlham, and together with three fellow students has just completed an interesting and enjoyable trip down the White Water valley, which was made in the canoes. The young men who accompanied Stanley on his "cruise" were Joe Furnas, John Hancock and Arthur Hotchkiss, all of Indianapolis.

The young men left Richmond early Monday morning and entering the East Fork in two small boats, proceeded down the stream. The first camp was made near Quakertown, the second near Brookville, the third at Lawrenceburg. From Lawrenceburg, they went up the Ohio river, arriving at Cincinnati Thursday morning.

From Cincinnati the young men shipped their craft to Indianapolis, and Stanley came here for a visit, arriving Thursday evening.

There were two boys in each boat, and each outfit was capsized during the course of the journey. All were given a good soaking, but the only damage occurring as the result of these accidents was the loss of a valuable camera which went overboard and was not recovered.
